

BAAR

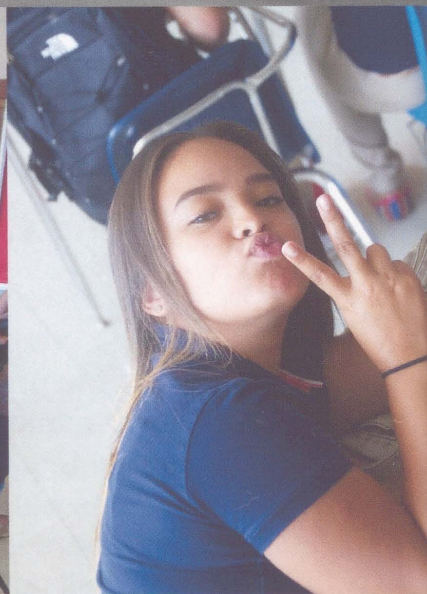

Dear Scholars,

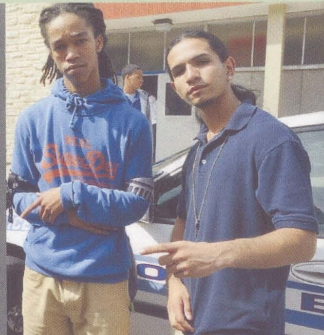

"Education is the key." This is a famous adage that has been around for years and because it is a short phrase that isn't decorated with a lot colorful language, the depth of this metaphor is easily overlooked. My goal as principal of Barringer Academy of the Arts and Humanities (BAAH) is to pack our educational program with experiences, skills, tools and opportunities that will equip everyone who enters Barringer Academy of the Arts and Humanities and exits as a senior with the keys to unlock any door they choose to enter. There are many keys available to our scholars within the corridors of BAAH, but there are four that if owned and mastered, will provide you with limitless positive possibilities. Those keys are metacognition, understanding, academic readiness and pride. Every encounter you have as a BAAH scholar presents you with a choice and every choice you make moves you closer to your post-secondary plans. Imagine each choice you make is a key you are choosing. What doors do you want your keys to open? The first key is metacognition. Metacognition is an exciting word that all of you need to own and practice. It is thinking about thinking. It is asking yourself questions to clarify your understanding of anything. Practicing this type of cognitive engagement in high school prepares you for an enriching life as an adult. Most have a goal after high school to get a good job or start a career. This may include going to college, a trade school or you might immediately join the work force. Our metacognitive scholars, regardless of the path they choose, will be constantly challenging themselves for continuous improvement. Do you have this key? The second key is understanding. If presented with a difficult situation with another scholar or with a staff person, what do you choose? Do you choose understanding or do you embrace conflict? Which key do you want to own and take with you after high school? Where do you think each key will lead you? When you combine understanding and metacognition, you are developing a powerful, positive mind. Do you have this key? Our third key is academic readiness. What motivates you to attend class each day? Do you do your best in all of your classes daily? Are you motivated by the fear of punishment or by what is needed to reach your goals? What are you goals? Your answers to these metacognitive questions will unveil your academic readiness. Do you have this key? Our final key is pride; not the pride that prevents some from apologizing when they are wrong, but the type of pride that makes you want to do what it takes to make your family shine, your school shine and unravel this misconception that another high school is a better choice. The difference between our school and the next school is YOU!! What are you doing to make our school great? Where is your pride? Each of you as a class has made your contribution to BAAH, but what will you take away. Thank you to the senior class for always keeping me on my toes and being honest about what you want from me. Thank you to the juniors for trusting me to hear your thoughts and respond. Thank you to the sophomores for being your true selves and allowing me to see your potential and work with you to achieve it. Thank you to the freshmen for choosing Barringer Academy of the Arts and Humanities to begin your high school years. Now to all of you, look within yourself and ask yourself ... what keys do you have in your possession? Where will your keys take you? I want to be there for you as you grow into the thinking, passionate graduates that will never forget his or her experiences at BAAH, but I need you to allow your education at BAAH to provide you with the right keys. We, the staff, can present them to you, but you have to choose to grab them.

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month!

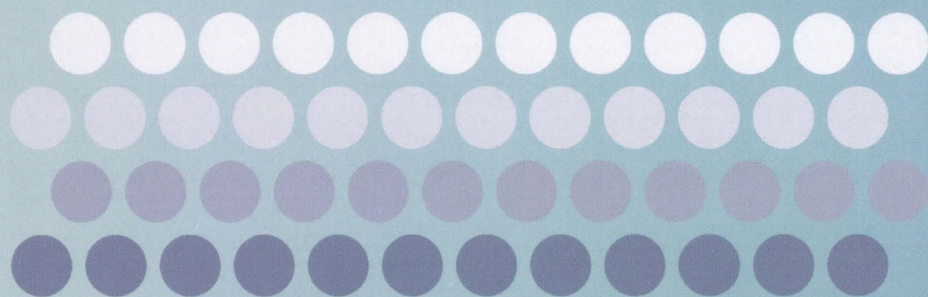

Barringer Academy of the Arts & Humanities

Breast cancer organizations use the pink ribbon to associate themselves with breast cancer, to promote breast cancer awareness, and to support fundraising. Some breast cancer-related organizations, such as Pink Ribbon International, use the pink ribbon as their primary symbol. Students and staff at the Barringer Academy of The Arts and Humanities showed support by wearing pink. Whether it was pink ribbon or just pink clothing.

If i had one word to describe my experience with volleyball it would be dedicated. I say that because throughout my volleyball season volleyball was my first priority, through the summer and fall. When i finish H.S. I plan to attend Stockton University in Gallaway , Nj. What I will miss the most about Barringer is Volleyball and SoftBall . Im going to miss the people I shared my experiences with and i wish them the best of luck on their journey.

Barringer Wrestling

My name is Richie Ruiz. I am a wrestler at Barringer Academy of Arts and Humanities. I joined the wrestling team because as a child i wanted to be a WWE Wrestler, so i saw this as a change to become one by wrestling. If i had one word to describe my experience with wrestling it would be "Love". I say that, because over the past years i started to grow into the sport and started to create and fall in love with wrestling since i saw it as a good fit for me than being in WWE. When i finish H.S i plan to become a famous game developer and have a family of my own to teach them how to wrestle and continue a family legacy. What i will miss the most from barringer is being beside my wrestling brothers and not being able to see them become state champions. Also the teachers and students that taught me and helped me learn from them over the past years growing up to become a greater person and wrestler than expected.

Hey Y'all!

Look where the time has taken us! We have come to the end of another year.

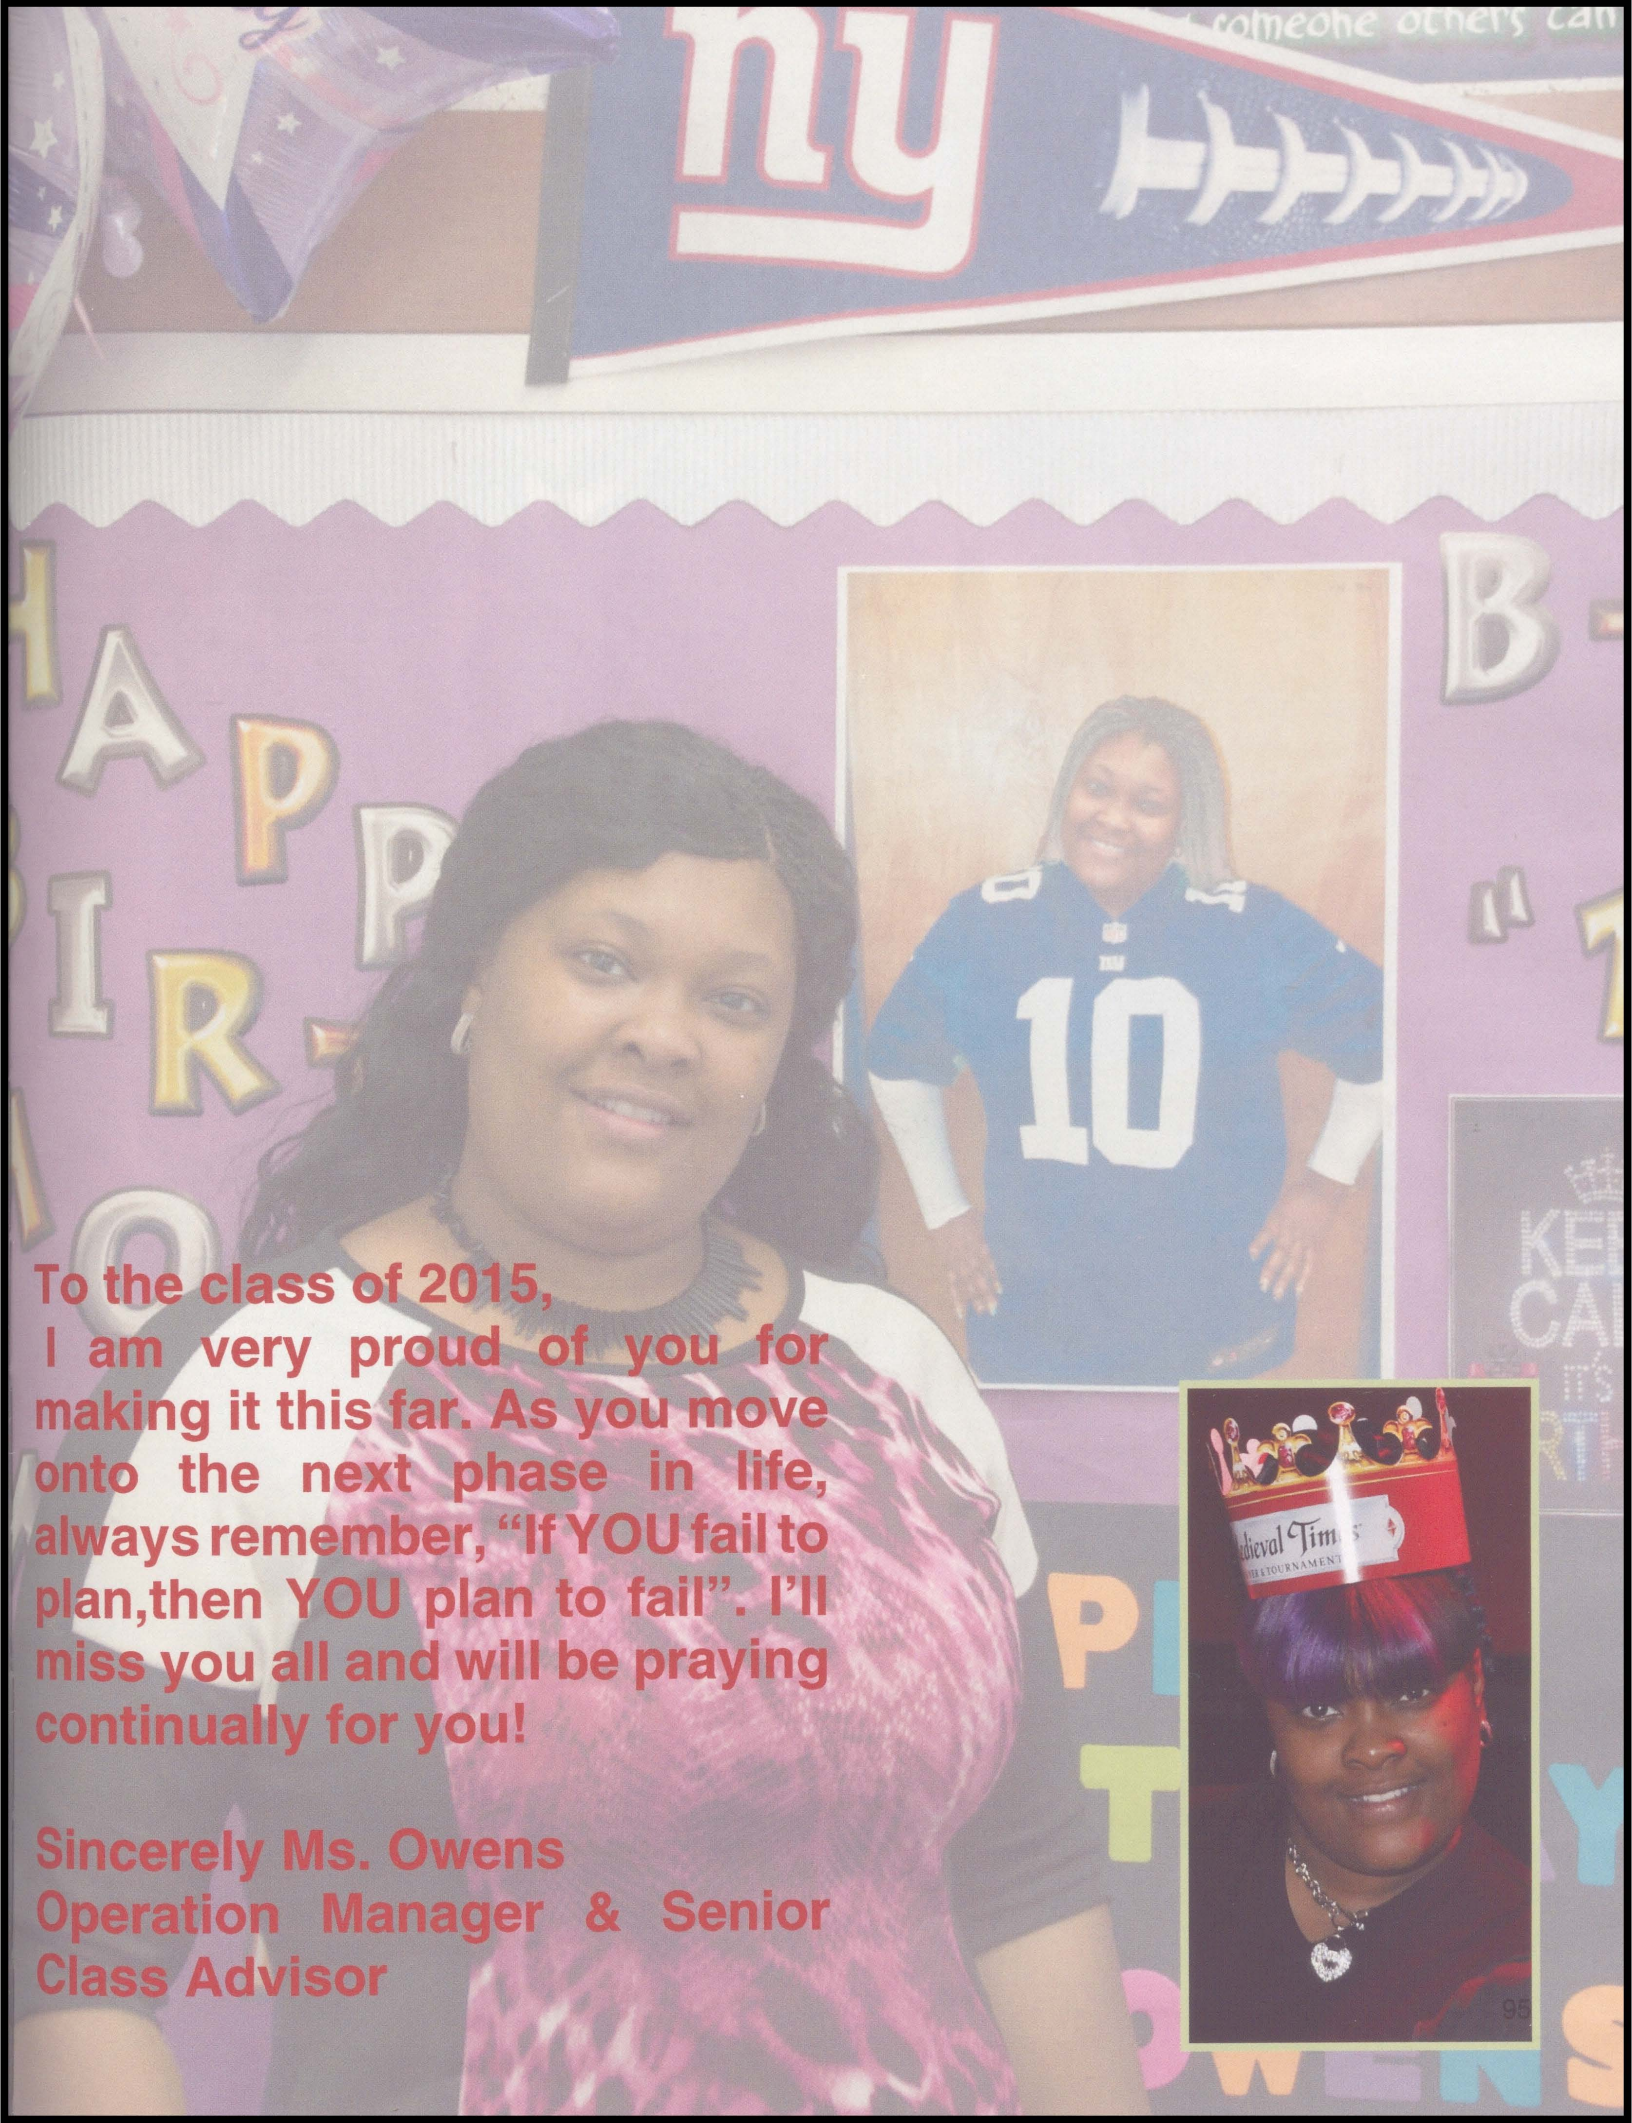

Many have come and gone but guess what, YOU are here and it is time to celebrate! Celebrate the good for those who made it! After going through the good and bad throughout the High School years, we should be thankful that we made it!

Many of you know, Barringer Academy of the Arts and Humanities wasn't the high school I started out at. I came from Cicely Tyson School of Performing and Fine Arts in East Orange. When I started out Here At BAAH last year, I did not know what to expect. Who would have thought I would become Senior Class President. And I would like to thank you all for choosing me as your president.

As we go into the future, I want you guys to expect Greatness. Why? Because we are GREAT people that came from a GREAT struggle and we are going to have a GREAT and BRIGHT future. So keep in mind that we are GREAT and great will turn into greater and greater will turn into The GREATEST.

Many say the sky is the limit, but it is not. There are no limits, go as high as you can.
